CITTIO NAMED TO CRN'S EMERGING VENDORS LIST FOR 2007

Leading Trade Magazine Recognizes CITTIO for Early Commitment to Channel

SAN FRANCISCO, June 6, 2007 – CITTIO, the innovation leader in automated network and systems monitoring software, today announced that the Company has been selected by CRN Magazine for its list of channel-friendly Emerging Vendors for 2007. The annual list of emerging vendors highlights those companies delivering high margins for solution providers with innovative and easy-to-use technology that undercuts industry giants.

CRN Magazine's Emerging Vendors for 2007 were selected by the CRN editorial team after careful review of technology, commitment to the channel and thorough discussions with current or targeted partners. The list honors up-and-coming companies that have closely tied their success to the development of an effective channel strategy.

"We are honored that CRN recognizes our continued dedication to cultivating our channel partners," said Jamie Lerner, president and CEO, CITTIO. "CITTIO WatchTower delivers low cost of ownership to customers while providing the channel with a flexible platform for value-added configurations. This enables partners to resell the solution in a format that works best for their particular markets."

CITTIO WatchTower®, the company's flagship network and systems monitoring solution, was designed for organizations with modern, constantly evolving networks where legacy or home-built monitoring software is not adequate. These complex environments allow CITTIO to offer incredible value to customers in a market where less efficient, manual systems were the only options available.
